The S. S. Mararoa arrived from San Francisco early Saturday morning, and remained in port until seven o'clock in the evening, when she continued on her way to the Colonies. The Royal Hawaiian band was on the wharf from half past four till six o'clock in the afternoon, playing many fine selections.

Among the arrivals by the S. S. Mararoa, was Dr. W. H. Hill, the celebrated tooth extractor, with a baby elephant. Police Court.

On Saturday Chin Quai Seu said in effect, in answer to the charge of perjury, "don't shoot; I'll come down," and was forthwith committed to the Supreme Court for trial.

Heeia, not the plantation of that name, left $6 bail in the funds.

Paona was an old offender in excessive pandering to his appetite for gin, and got the o. o.'s penalty of ten days at hard labor, with as much more toil in the state's service as would commute $1 costs.

Hollanger and Oxley each neglected to claim their bail of $6 for drunkenness, the inference being either that their time was worth more than that amount or that they had taken too much.

Akana and Lee Man, who tried to contest a claim for the freedom of Maunakea street with the police, as reported in Saturday's HERALD, had their claim disallowed with $11.10 each debited to them in the bargain.

Ah Kai said he was smoking opium because he was sick, but Judge Bickerton apparently thought the accused got his cue from the Advertiser, which said opium was necessary to Celestial health. At all events, His Honor decided that paying a penal fee of $50, and taking active exercise under direction of Captain Tripp's lunas for 20 days, was the appropriate treatment for this sick Chinaman.

Thos. Keefe, for causing a compound fracture in the express regulations, was reprimanded and discharged with the full understanding that those ordinances were not made to be over-ridden.

Hookanahana, hooked for assault and battery, was made to salt the treasury with a battery of seven shining dollars, one bright quarter and a sullen-looking nickel, or work out that much money for fine and costs on the roads.

The twenty-third annual report of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, being a complete record of the session held in June last, has just been issued in a snug pamphlet. In appendix are given the annual report of Chinese mission work by Mr. F. W. Damon, report of visit to the mission of the Marshall and Caroline Islands by Dr. Wetmore, and extracts of letters received from Micronesia.

Nathan F. Sayer, an old resident of the Islands, died at Makawao, Maui, on Sunday week. He willed $500 to the Bethel Union Church, $500 to the Stranger's Friend Society, $1,600 to be divided among his servants, $20 a year for the support of a foreign pastor at Makawao, and all his real estate and property in trust to the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, the interest to be used for mission purposes.

TRADE POINTERS.

A chance to get material for good clothes, which does not occur every day in the year, is presented to-day. At ten o'clock Messrs. E. P. Adams & Co. will offer, at their salesroom, the whole of Mr. L. B. Kerr's stock of tailoring goods. There will be lots of opportunities to get the end of a web of elegant cloth. If you only want a piece to replace the breeches torn by "that boy" in climbing over sheds and fences, it will be worth while to attend this sale.

FOREIGN NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

The Samoan Consulship.

The Washington correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle on September 24th repeated a statement, made eight or ten days previously, that Mr. Greenebaum was no longer in the consular service. On each occasion the statement was made by a clerk of the State Department. It was not known that Mr. Greenebaum had gone to Samoa, and a special envoy sent to the consulate had not been heard from. According to the above authorities, Greenebaum had only a temporary commission, lapsing with the late session of Congress; and although his new appointment was confirmed by the Senate, his permanent commission was withheld by the department.

A Mesalliance.

Jackson Irving Case, the 22-year old son of J. I. Case, the many times millionaire and owner of Jay-Eye-See, Phallas and other well-known race horses, was secretly married at Racine, Wisconsin, last March to Henrietta Roy, the divorced wife of a poor young mechanic. The father is boiling over with rage at his son's escapade, and threatens to cut the boy off without a dollar. Young Case and the woman are keeping out of the way until the storm blows over. Case is estimated to be worth from five to eight millions, and though devotedly fond of his son is a man of iron will, and it is the general sentiment that he will never forgive the lad for the mesalliance.

Miscellaneous.

The California State Horticultural Society has decided to invite the American Horticultural Association to hold its national convention, appointed for February 5, 1888, in San Francisco.

A reported draft of a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada, it is proved, has not been considered by either Government.

General Logan, while attending the triennial convocation of Knights Templar at St. Louis, was seized with congestion of the lungs. For two days grave fears were entertained that he would not live, but at last accounts the doctors had pronounced him out of danger.

Charles Dall and Charles T. Blackburn, the first a member and the other clerk of the late Board of Works, Cincinnati, have been arrested upon a charge of embezzling $15,000 of the city's fund.

The orange crop of Louisiana is reported to be a total failure, from the severe nip of frost last winter. It used to be 30,000,000 to 50,000,000, but this year will not be 1,000,000.

James Russell Lowell arrived in Boston from England, September 24th. Adolph Sutro has given 45,000 seedling pines, for distribution among the school children of San Francisco, to be planted on Arbor Day.

The earth was still intermittently quaking in South Carolina up to Sept. 25th. There was little need of relief from outside in Charleston. Dwellings belonging to poor people were to be repaired at public expense.

The shipowners claim that the sailors' strike in San Francisco has collapsed, but the Unions emphatically deny this.

EUROPE.

The Eastern Question.

The latest news from Sophia, dated September 24th, is that General Kaubars, the Russian envoy, has brought an ultimatum, which demands the immediate raising of the state of siege in Bulgaria; the liberation of all political prisoners, and the indefinite postponement of the elections for members of the National Assembly. However, there are no signs of flinching on the part of the Regency. On the contrary the anti-Russian feeling increases daily.

At that date peace rumors were in the ascendant in London. The Sultan had recovered from the shock of Alexander's expulsion from Bulgaria. Although still preparing for war, he eagerly listened to Russia's overtures. The hasty arrangements for Lord Salisbury's departure for the Continent were accepted as confirming the belief uppermost at that moment that peace would after all be preserved.

The Russian agent has withdrawn from deposit in Sophia the entire funds of the agency, amounting to upwards of 1,000,000 francs. French and German bankers have telegraphed to Sophia that they are willing to advance a loan to the Bulgarian Government.

Miscellaneous.

The British Parliament was prorogued September 25. The Queen said that she had informed Turkey that, so far as England was concerned, there would be no infraction of the conditions guaranteed by the Treaty of Berlin to Bulgaria.

In a race over the championship course from Putney to Morelake Beaches, September 25, Wm. Beach of Australia defeated Wallace Ross of Canada, winning by four lengths in 23 minutes, 5 seconds. The race was a procession almost throughout.

Sir William White succeeds Sir Edward Thornton as British Minister at Constantinople. Sir William is considered a strong diplomat, well versed in Eastern affairs and able to counteract Russian intrigues.

A Curious Find.

In stripping the starboard side of the schooner Hammonia on Saturday, a marine shell was found embedded in a rotten timber. When extricated the shell was discovered to have a tenant not only alive but active. Poking out its tentacles, nippers and head, its bright eyes peered anxiously about, as if seeking the prospects of getting back to its native element. The shell was spiral, covered with jagged protuberances, and about an inch in length. Its tenant was a pretty and lively creature, rigged forward of the main hatch like a lobster, as a sailor might say. The creature is said to be a South Sea Islander, and the supposition is that it was washed through a leaking joint in very early infancy. Mr. Bruce, who made the find, had a cable of twine fastened to the animal, tethering it in the water with a view of preserving it as a curiosity. It would be a pretty addition to an aquarium, provided the water could be made to its taste.

A Heavy Docket.

It is to be hoped Police Justice Bickerton has had a good night's rest, for a formidable docket awaits him this morning. There were eighteen cases entered at the Station on Saturday and twelve yesterday. Of yesterday's arrests there were five Chinamen for violating the Sabbath, five persons for drunkenness, one for having opium in possession, two for selling liquor without license, and one for "preventing justice." Ah Fat was arrested by Officer Hopkins for selling liquor at the Wai-kiki baths, and Dick for conducting a similar illicit traffic at Cape Horn. Neither had the requisite $500 bail forthcoming and both were consigned to the cells.

Fastest on Record.

By the last up trip of the Mararoa and connections, the mails were carried in thirty-two days from Sydney to London. That steamship being pushed to see what she could do on her last trip, was in time at San Francisco to have the mails catch the fast Cunard steamship Etruria. "This time," said a San Francisco postal official, "beats the record of 'around the world in eighty days,' for from Sydney to London is half-way."

Sarah Bernhardt will wind up a series of engagements, in South and Central America and the United States, at San Francisco next spring, and thence go to Australia.

Good news for Hawaiian wool growers is that the London market for that staple has been very active at high figures for some time past.

A Georgia dog was lying in the yard when a negro girl rushed out of the house with her dress burning. The dog sprang at the girl and tore away part of the burning clothing. She broke away, but the dog again caught her and continued his efforts until all her clothing was torn off. That the girl, though much burnt, still lives is due to the dog, whose mouth and forefeet were badly burned in his efforts to save her.
